Our planet's future depends on urgent climate action. Protecting life below water and life on land is crucial. Oceans need our help to combat pollution and overfishing, while forests and wetlands require our commitment to prevent deforestation and degradation. Quality Education

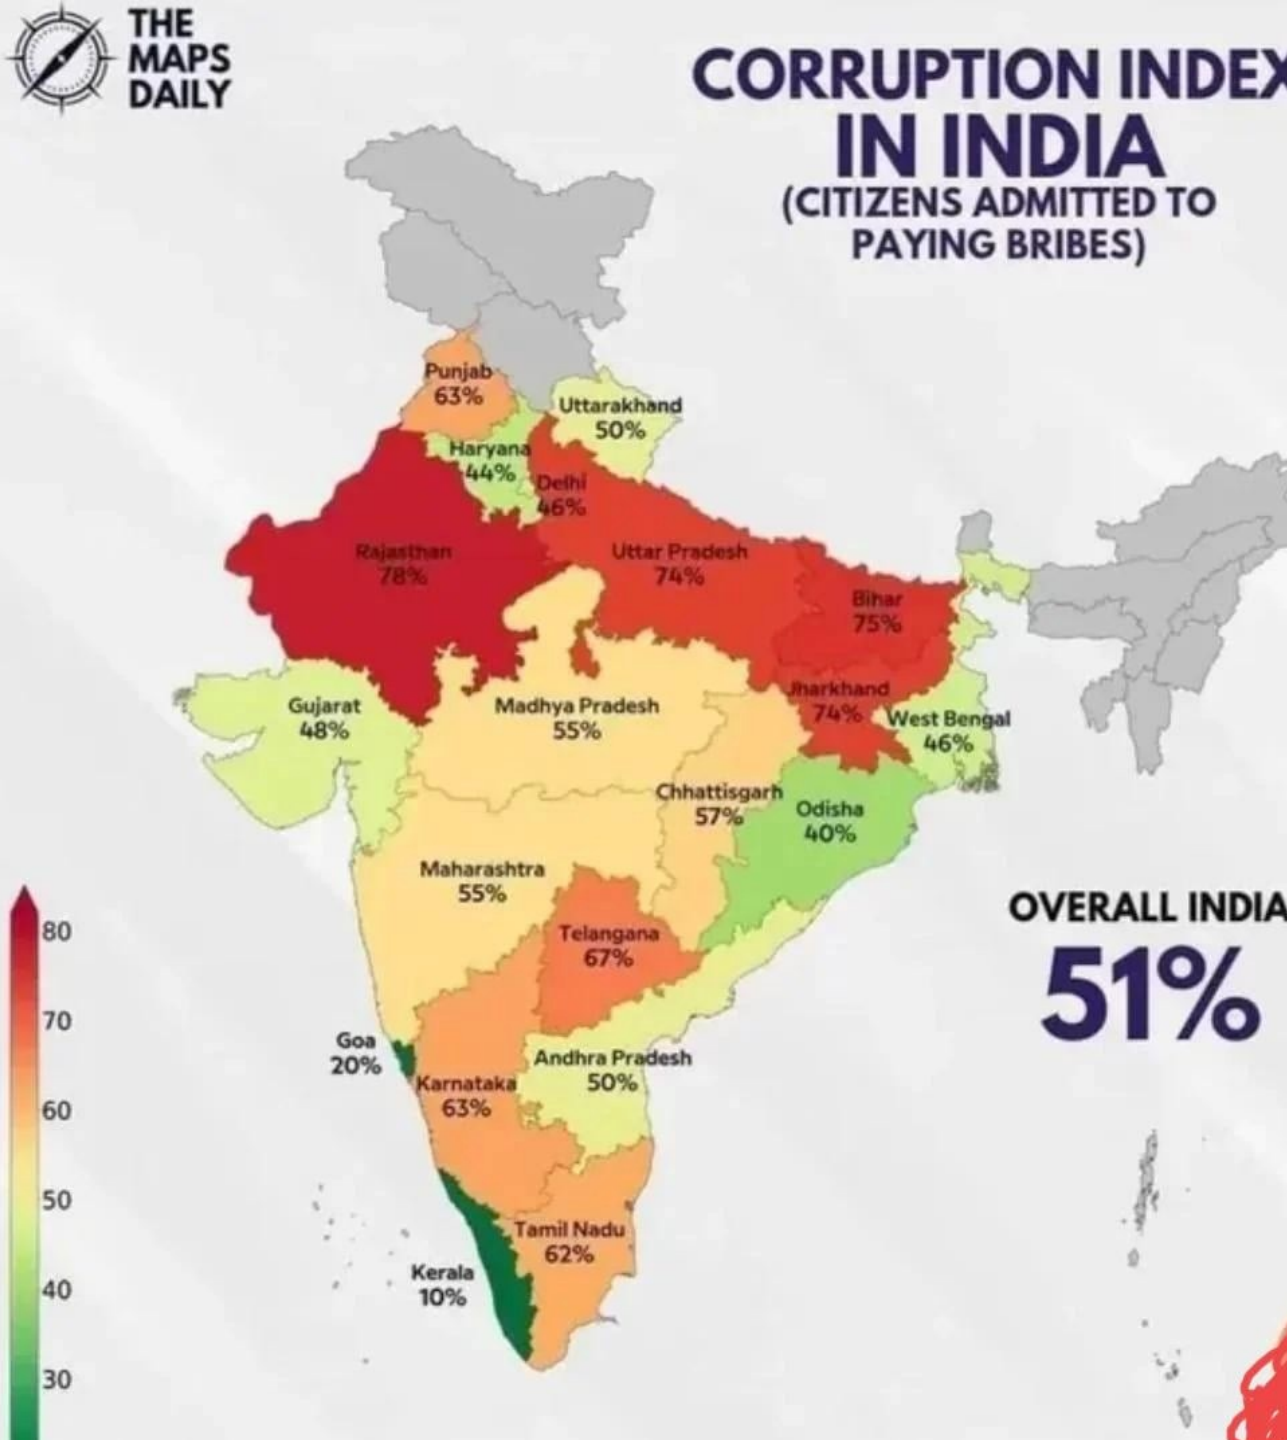
Quality Education is a fundamental right of every human being on the planet. It's the cornerstone for human resource development. One of the leading reasons of unemployment in India is bad quality education, mainly education in government schools. A 2014 report by Associated Chamber of Commerce and Industry of India (ACER) shows that only 41 per cent of children studying in government schools in the age group of 6-14 can read a standard two text. Multiple cases of incapable teachers have come up in governments schools, namely, in 2019 in Uttar Pradesh, an English teacher named Unnao fails to read a few lines of the language from a book after the District Magistrate, Devendra Kumar Pandey, asked her to read during an inspection of a govt school in Sikandarpur, Sarausi.

Corruption in India

Corruption in India is a significant issue, impacting various aspects of society and governance. It manifests in the form of bribery affecting public services, law enforcement, and the political system. Major scandals have involved large-scale financial irregularities in sectors like telecommunications, coal



Corruption in Law Enforcement

One of the most recent and the most popular corruption incident occurred on 18th May 2024 when a 17-year-old minor named Vedant Agrawal crashed into a couple on a bike under the influence of alcohol. Upon being bought to the police station, he was given Pizza and his blood samples were manipulated. In trial, he received a punishment of a 300-word essay and community service for killing two people on a motorcycle.

The NEET Scam

The NEET scam is a stark reality in India, where seats are sold to the highest bidder, crushing the dreams of deserving students. Corruption and nepotism reign, denying merit-based opportunities. It's time to demand transparency, accountability, and reform. Let's unite to end this injustice and ensure that education is a right, not a privilege for the privileged few.
